COMMUNICATION, MA

Graduate School Policies and Procedures (http://catalog.ucdenver.edu/cu-denver/graduate/graduate-school-policies-procedures/) apply to this program.

Introduction

Our vibrant community of scholars and teachers is committed to providing a real world, hands-on, and theoretically robust master’s degree that will enrich students’ communication knowledge and skills. Our program is a 33-credit generalist degree designed to enhance students’ intellectual and professional growth through the understanding, analysis and practice of effective communication. Our faculty members are nationally and internationally recognized leaders in their fields, and our students hail from all over the world.

Some students who complete our program receive offers to top-notch PhD programs while others accept or continue in positions related to communication management, strategic communication, public relations, media relations, human relations, and corporate and non-profit communications.

Electives

Students must complete seven elective courses. All electives must be at the 5000 or 6000 level; however, 1 course (3 credits) is permitted at the 4000 level from outside the Communication department. A total of 6 credits may be outside the Communication department.

Seminars are Communication courses at the 6000 level and are often special topics classes taught in faculty areas of expertise.

Courses that count as electives include:

- Any Communication courses taken at the 5000 or 6000 level that do not fulfill another program requirement.
- Communication internships (max 6 credit hours)
- Communication independent studies (max 6 credit hours)
- Courses from outside the Communication department (max 6 credit hours; more with the approval of the student’s advisor and the Director of Graduate Studies).
- Project or Thesis credit, if applicable. Students who choose to complete a project or thesis must register for between 3-6 semester hours of project or thesis work, which may substitute for one or two elective courses. Students who complete a project or thesis still complete a total of 33 credit hours.

Comprehensive examination

All students must pass a comprehensive examination at the end of course work.
