Overview

Upon completion of this certificate students will:

- Understand grant writing as a career path
- Gain knowledge of and experience in the language and process of proposal development, seeking funding sources, building relationships, planning and writing effective grants, creating budgets, developing effective evaluation tools, understanding fiscal management functions and regulations, and managing grant funds
- Tailor grant writing skills to a specific career field, including science, medicine, academic research, nonprofits, etc.

These program requirements are subject to periodic revision by the academic department, and the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences reserves the right to make exceptions and substitutions as judged necessary in individual cases. Therefore, the College strongly urges students to consult regularly with their Teaching College-Level Literature and Film advisor to confirm the best plans of study before finalizing them.

Graduate Education Policies and Procedures apply to this program.
