

DIGITAL PEDAGOGIES AND NEW LITERACIES CERTIFICATE

Introduction

Graduate Certificate

This credit-bearing graduate certificate equips individuals with a bachelor's or master's degree with the tools they need to provide students with an equitable, engaging, and meaningful digital education experience. This certificate aims to foster dynamic, inquisitive, and forward-thinking educators capable of identifying and solving the challenges facing digital education today, including issues of diversity, equity, inclusion, anti-racism, and the development of more student-centered design and instructional approaches.

Program Requirements

Code	Title	Hours
Required Courses:
INTE 5360	Critical Digital Pedagogy	3
INTE 5300	Critical Digital Literacies	3
Application Courses:
Select one of the following:		3
INTE 5340	Learning with Digital Stories
INTE 5670	Crafting Synchronous Learning
INTE 5000	Maker Studio
INTE 5320	Games and Learning
INTE 5010	Humanizing Learning Design
Capstone Courses:
Select one* of the following:		3
INTE 6840	Independent Study: Learning Technologies
INTE 6720	Research in Learning Design and Technology
INTE 6930	Internship: Learning Technologies
*Your faculty advisor will discuss which course option best pertains to a student's professional path. If a student is earning the K12 Teacher Librarian endorsement, there is a required field experience course (SCHL 5913) that will need to be met prior to determining your final certificate course.
Total Hours		12